From the first pancake, served up fresh off the grill with its accompaniment of spicy sausage and steaming hot coffee, to the last dance of the evening, Elk Point celebrated Canada Day 1988 with wholehearted exuberance.

A major portion of the town's population, along with residents of area farms, surrounding towns, and far-flung parts of the world joined together in saluting Canada's 121st Birthday, along with the 50th Anniversary of Elk Point's Incorporation and the 50th Anniversary of the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce.

The day offered something of interest to everyone, from the beginnings of a 24-team slowpitch tournament, to bed races, to song, dance, comedy, pie eating, performing dogs, a beef barbecue supper and colorful fireworks.

Included in this year's Opening Ceremonies was the dedication of the new Town of Elk Point flag by Mayor Byron Mann, with assistance from members of Elk Point's Scouts, Cubs and Beavers. Flags were presented to MLA John Drobot and to Mayor Mann, who urged the people of Elk Point to 'take pride in what this flag stands for.'

Drobot reminisced that July 1 was not always the day celebrated in the Elk Point area. In the earlier days, the large numbers of American settlers in the area made July 4 the day to hold picnics, sports days, and ballgames. However, he proudly remarked, 'since then, we eventually became Canadianized.'

Canada Day Chairman Marshall Kachmar praised the 'total community involvement' which made an event of this size possible, and presented Master of Ceremonies Pat Vincent, who has been instrumental in Canada Day celebrations for several years, with a plaque commending his efforts.

Alberta's Minister of Public Works, Ernie Isley, brought greetings from the Province, and presented Mayor Mann with a framed replica of Elk Point's certificate of incorporation, on behalf of Minister of Municipal Affairs Dennis Anderson.

Parade a big success

Elk Point Lioness Club's 1988 Canada Day Parade stretched out to 10 blocks in length, and included beautifully decorated floats, antique vehicles, prancing horses, music from the Canadian Forces Band, cavorting comedians and an entire train of covered wagons.

Led by RCMP Sgt. Bruce Best on horseback and Mayor and Mrs. Byron Mann and Canada Day Committee Chairman Marshall Kachmar in Albert Naber's antique carriage, the colorful procession was enjoyed by sizeable crowds lining the route.

E-Can Oilfield Services, with one of their tank trucks turned into a gigantic covered wagon drawn by delightful painted ponies, took first prize in the Local Commercial category. Pan Canadian Petroleum, whose float contained a miniature pumpjack complete with burning gas flare, placed second, while Co-op's attractive red, white and green float placed third.

Elk Point Oilmen's Association's float, containing a flower-decked oil rig, won the Adult Clubs and Organizations category. The elegant purple and white float of the local BPO Elks and Order of Royal Purple Lodges placed second, and the pretty-in-pink Oilettes' entry, complete with flamingoes, was third.

Elk Point 4-H MultiClub placed first in the Youth Clubs and Organizations sector, with Heinsburg 4-H MultiClub a close second. Elk Point Scouting Association placed third.

Albert Naber's antique carriage took first prize in the Pioneer and Antique category, with Rocky Sharkey's buggy second and Chester Botting's Model T third.

On the Citizenship theme, Elmer Van Riper's handcrafted miniatures caught the judges' eyes for first place. Carrie and Richard Piotrowski placed second, and the Elk Point Wunder-Dogs third.

Top honors in the Individual entries went to the comedy team of Tommy Rae and Travis Pankiw, with Carla Domstad placing second, and Sharon and Wendy Boratynec third.

Decorated Bikes again showed artistry and imagination, with Melanie Johnson first, Kara Serniak second, and Joni Matthews and Gary O'Neill third.

Stoney Lake Stampede Association's large group placed first in the Horses and Riders category, while pioneer women Marilyn Cochrane and Diane Proski placed second, and the Dunham family, who accompanied the Lakeland Review's chuckwagon in the parade, were third.

Tug-of-War

This year's Tug of War involved 7 teams, plus two ladies' teams which put on an exhibition match. After almost an hour of slipping, sliding, and the odd bellyflop, DrakeWell beat the Northern Farmers for the 'A' side title, while Pan Canadian Petroleum defeated the Southern Farmers for the 'B' side.

The adult games, including the Tug-of-War, were sponsored by the Elk Point Oilmen's Association, while the Oilettes sponsored the children's games. The OORP sponsored the Homemade Bread and Jam competition.

Canada Day celebrations memorable

Deputy Prime Minister Don Mazankowski was absent from the celebration, but sent his regards from Australia, along with assurances that although he was far away, his 'heart will be in Elk Point.' The crowd was told that word had just been received that a large grant helping to make the celebration possible, had been approved due to Mazankowski's efforts on Elk Point's behalf.

County of St. Paul Councillors John Hutton, Bill Ference and Bob Smith, local clergymen Sam Donaldson and John McGregor, and Chamber of Commerce President Vicki Brooker were also platform guests, each being presented with Canada Day and Elk Point 50th Anniversary pins.

No birthday party would be complete without a cake, and the OORP had baked up a large and delectable one. Special guests who joined the dignitaries in the cutting of the cake were four people who celebrate their birthdays, along with Canada, on July 1: Bill Ference, Mrs. Minnie Moneta, Jerry Ahern, and Miss Amber Tonsi.

A full afternoon of entertainment followed: music by Mule Train, a much enjoyed half hour with Elk Point's Ukrainian Dancers, who hurried home between a Thursday night performance in Edmonton and an early Saturday performance in Vegreville, music with a spiritual note by four local ladies, Mikki Wilson, Suzanne Cameron, Idella Mathews and Ellen Ranger, called 'The Hosannas', hilarious antics of the Lakeland Theatre Company's 'cleaning lady' and her nattily dressed companion, much gobbling and ear-to-ear whipped cream in the Elks Pie Eating Contest, and the well-schooled paces of local super-pets, the Elk Point WunderDogs.

Races, games and contests kept children entertained and provided the adults with a place to show their prowess at arm wrestling, nail pounding and other activities, ending with a tug-of-war.

A unique addition to this year's celebrations was a Dunk Tank, presided over by the North Hill Playground fundraisers, where many found themselves immersed due to the marksmanship of their friends (?).

A barbecued beef supper, hosted by Elk Point Minor Ball Association, followed by a beerfest organized by the Firefighters' Association, and music from County Express and Mule Train, which paused only for a glorious fireworks display, kept Elk Point swinging until Canada Day turned into July 2.

Even then, the party wasn't over, with the ball tournament continuing until Sunday, and another beerfest and dance, sponsored by the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce, Saturday evening.

What a weekend!

Panasonics tourney a major success

Video Point Panasonics' 24-team slowpitch tournament, held over the Canada Day long weekend, has been termed 'a major success' by organizer Ken Langdone. Teams from far and wide converged on Elk Point for the three-day event, which Langdone says was 'a benefit to the whole town.' The excellent response has the Panasonics looking forward to hosting another tournament next year.

Good crowds were on hand to watch the action all weekend, despite the odd rain shower on Saturday and early Sunday.

The 'A' Event final saw St. Paul's Charlie's Pickup Team take on the Elk Point Raiders. First appearances were deceiving, with the Raiders chalking up 8 runs in the first inning to Charlie's 4, with each team getting a single run in the second.

Two scoreless innings for the Raiders, while Charlie's crew successfully circled the bases 6 times, put the St. Paul team in the lead.

One completed run in the fifth and three fast outs in the sixth slid the Raiders into second place in the event, while a combination of walks and base hits added 16 (honest-16!) points to the Charlie's score and sent them home happy, with the gold medals and $600 first prize money. The Raiders took the second largest prize of the tournament, equalling $500.

In the 'B' Event, Bonnyville Bud Lights defeated Moose Mountain for the silver medals, with $400 and $300 in prize money going to the teams.

Gerry's Magic Carpet Shaggers, St. Paul, won the bronze in the 'C' Event, along with $250, with a victory over the Shine Factory Cardinals, who received $200.

Town Council news

Elk Point Town Council started off the 51st year of incorporation at Monday's regular meeting, with Deputy Mayor Steve Shmyr in the chair, for the shortest meeting of the year.

Highlight of the meeting was a report from Councillor Allan Frankiw that plans for development of the Fort George-Buckingham House fur trading forts are alive and well. Frankiw is a member of the Advisory Board which has made application for $95,000 through the Canadian Job Strategy Program to commence work on the site. An application by the Elk Point Historical Society, originally for $265,000 to commence development of Phase One, and updated to $1.3 million to cover all four phases, has gone through approval by the Provincial committee, and has been sent to Ottawa. Plans for an access road to the site are also being considered.

Frankiw also reported on the Lakeland Tourist Association and Team Tourism meetings he attended June 25 in Ashmont.

As usual at this time of year, weed problems were discussed, with developers and owners of vacant land urged to take care of the unwanted vegetation and prevent its spread.

Taxes are reported to be coming in well, including some prepayment of frontage charges. Council noted that while it is possible for taxpayers to prepay frontage charges, the Town cannot prepay these funds on the debentures, due to Municipal Affairs regulations. Council discussed formulating a resolution on this matter, for presentation to Municipal Affairs.

Council again discussed the possibility of a community television channel, which they consider to be advantageous to the community.

from tournament organizer Ken Langdone. The gold medal winners defeated the hometown Raiders in their final game.

BONNYVILLE BUD LIGHTS—accept the 'B' Event winnings from Mike Chubey, after defeating Moose Mountain for the Panasonics tournament silver medals.

A walk in the woods

By Irene Magnusson

Alberta Trails

I would never have thought, after all these years of rambling about on our farm (and on a lot of other land, as far as that goes) that I would discover anything completely new to me growing here.

I had been cutting grass for two hours or so, and a hot withering day it was, so had to change my pace for a while, or pass out. I went in and drank a pint or so of nice cold water, and was about to collapse into my rocker with a book, when I looked out the south window. The big trees shade the undergrowth so nicely, and all that fluttering green was just too tempting. I decided to go for a walk, up along the winter ski trail, where the wild roses were so thick last week it was like a garden, and still quite a few smiling sweetly there, where the wild lily-of-the-valley has carpeted the forest floor with smooth oval leaves, their little white spikes of bloom now gone to brown ready to become laden with seeds.

I had picked a bouquet of wild flowers along the roadside—yes, along the roadside!—fireweed, Canada thistle, vetch and clover, yarrow and hedsarum, a couple of giant hyssop, a couple of Canada anemones, one or two wild gaillardia, a few sprays of brome grass to complete my bouquet—all flowers which, when they do bloom, or I should say—are allowed to bloom—are plentiful and widespread, so I felt no guilt at picking them. However, the two tiger lilies I saw I left exactly where they were, in hopes someone else could enjoy seeing them, to allow them to seed or create new bulbs, and perhaps procreate themselves.

How come all this growth along the roadside? I read a few weeks ago that the usual deadly roadside spraying was about to commence. Every time I go out I go in some dread that it will have occurred since last I went, and the brave growth, so lovely to behold, will be hanging limp and lifeless, once more reduced to trash by the ruthless vendetta of the spray machines.

I can only rejoice it has not occurred and hope to high heaven that it will be overlooked, decided against, STOPPED, and otherwise not done—not only this year but forever.

So I had my lovely bouquet, picked almost as I used to do, free along the side road I use to go from home to town and back again.

So, thinks I, for a change of pace, I will walk out and get a few bluebells to add to my collection. They are just starting to come, and I'd noticed a clump by my south fence. The bluebells were there—or if you prefer, harebells—and I gathered a few, along with some sprays of yellow locoweed, and golden aster, those tough little ground plants that can grow right up out of a driveway, on the very poorest soil, to brighten a spot with brilliant gold.

Some years ago there were wild onions along my south fence, too, with their purple flowers and green onion spears. Last year I couldn't find any, and after looking closely where they once grew, I could find none this year either, so I guess the spray did in the wild onions, maybe forever. The honeysuckles are done blooming now, tiny green berries clumped in the little green saucers. They will turn orange before too long. Here and there, bunchberry flowers, white stars in their six-leaved bowls, still gleamed, but most are already preparing for fall when they offer a ball of bright orange berries, free for the birds to claim.

Along the edge of the grove, some scrubby saskatoon bushes try to compete, and I see their berries are turning red, and starting to swell. It won't be too long before they'll be ripening.

I wandered on. A few pink pyrolas, far too few to risk picking any, showed here and there among the long grass and leaves. This grove of trees once sheltered a mass of them, so many it looked pink-tinged when you glanced down between the tree trunks. Pyrolas—or wintergreen, as some call them, like lots of moisture, and that they did not have this spring, so they compensate by not putting out many blooms. In this forest of mine, are also white pyrolas, and over by the swamp, one-flowered wintergreen, and grass of parnasses, and tiny purple round-leaved orchids, but I will not go there today, it is far, and the grass is so long and harder to walk through, since no cattle graze here anymore. (I long for the 15 or so calves we used to run in this old schoolyard, they kept the grass down, didn't trample the flowers, or bend over the saplings, just quietly grazed off the growth they could handle, and left everything else alone. So long ago....)

Turning back towards the house, I walked between the few small spruce that intersperse the poplars, and here is where I saw them. A clump of brownish growth, they looked like dead leaves at first. But the shape was intriguing. I bent closer. My brain cells started clicking. Whatever was this? Something I'd never seen before.

Then I remembered, one long-ago summer, before the lakeshore was lined with summer cabins and so many people—Clif and I out boating, had stopped to explore a beckoning stony beach on Muriel Lake, wandering in the cool woods, leafmold and moss ankle-deep underfoot, and here we saw these curious little brownish-red plants, no leaves, just an upthrust of scaly stem, and on it, the flowers. I had plucked one from the clump and wrapped it in the damp moss, to bring home and identify.

My plant books call it 'Striped Coralroot'—the 'coral root' possibly indicating it has roots of that color, although I didn't dig any roots to see. My newly-found little treasure is a sister plant, this one called 'Spotted Coralroot', since the protruding spotted tongue is white with red spots, rather than red stripes, as on the other one. Both of these little plants (6 to 20 inches tall) are of the orchid family, and their usual habitat is damp mixed forest, such as my grove, but their home territory is the Cypress Hills and such exotic lands—not my little woods.

How did they get here? When and why? I have never seen them before, in forty years of traipsing around through that grove—and if any other has, I think I'd have heard of it.

These little plants have no leaves, just a kind of scale on their stiff stems. They produce seeds, in a small round capsule, so presumably a bird could have dropped a seed or two one recent spring—after carrying them perhaps hundreds of miles?!

There were 5 or 6 stems of flowers. Of course, I came home for the camera, and did my best to capture on film these newcomers to my plant-life scene. You will see them, if they turn out well.

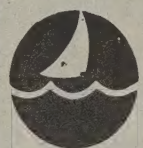

There is a real thrill to finding a new flower, especially in my own backyard! I get a big kick out of seeing different kinds, in far away places, when I travel—but we expect different things in far away places. Here, I am more used to expecting NOT to see familiar varieties anymore, as we continue to make our heritage into past history.

So, Hello, Spotted Coralroot! Welcome to my world!

WILD GAILLARDIA — (Or called by some brown-eyed susans) are perennial, but also grow from seeds, strong-scented and tough, they weather roadsides and dot meadows, never in great numbers.

Outstanding community effort

Say, wasn't that a party?

Canada Day, and in fact all the weekend's activities, didn't just happen, springing into being for our enjoyment. They were put together by a number of people, from a number of groups, with many hours spent on tedious arrangements and nonstop details, until the plans were as complete as they could be, and then many more hours spent on carrying out those plans.

Volunteers—they are who whipped up the pancake batter, sliced the sausage, poured the coffee. They are who timed the bed race, judged the floats, handed out the ribbons, represented their groups in the Color Party, provided entertainment, got dunked, ran the games and maned the concessions, served the barbecued beef, cleared off the tables, and when all was said and done, hauled away the tables and chairs.

Sure, some of the groups made some money on their enterprises: hamburgers, refreshments, dance admissions, whatever. But they aren't going to line their own pockets: that cash goes back into the community, to help balance the Library budget, to pay for manning the Tourist Booth, to help buy needed equipment for the firemen, to develop a park for the enjoyment of our children, to help defray the costs of minor sports, to help the service clubs to help their fellow humans.

It was a lot of work, but it was worth it. Those who volunteered for the fundraising projects, helped their groups to be self-sufficient, and to provide for their needs without asking for handouts. Those whose efforts went only to entertain others and provide for their enjoyment, may have only had applause for their pay, but it left a warm feeling in their hearts, and that is something money cannot buy.

Thank you to every last person who helped to make the day, and the weekend, an overwhelming success, once again. And to our visitors, thank you for being with us. We hope you enjoyed our celebration, and will come back to see us again.

But...whatever can we do to improve it for next year? Any ideas?

Historical Society summer meeting

By Irene Magnusson

Six members of the diminished Historical Society gathered in the library meeting room to hear reports of recent events and try to plan for the future.

Treasurer Modin was not present, so a financial run-down was given by Chairman Frank Mayner.

The Mural Park plan has been received, reviewed and accepted. Further plans are required to the proposed Mural stand, and help is being received from Rob Holliday on this. Materials will be ordered from Imperial Lumber, and Dennis Uttley of Elk Point has agreed to do the necessary welding.

Reports from some members were that the Mural is coming along at a slow but steady rate, and there are still hopes among the members that it will be finished in time for a 'Grand Opening' installation day before winter sets in again. Being such a major undertaking, deadlines are harder to meet.

The flag stand created by John Tilton at the Society's request now stands in the Elk Point Library, and proudly displays the Hudson's Bay flag, obtained earlier by Mayner, alongside of the green and gold of the Elk Point flag.

Two persons from the University of Alberta are presently in the Elk Point vicinity, looking to do some excavating or other observations at the old Fort sites through the summer months. However, no progress can be reported on the grants requested for major face-lifting work as so often requested and urged by the Elk Point and District Historical Society. The group will continue to push for this recognition of the early fur trading posts along the North Saskatchewan River.

Grace Barwick, in charge of the large Canada Day map, formerly under the care and hand of the late, and greatly missed, Mary Bennett, reported that the task has been completed, with the help of the FCSS personnel. Paul Stepa agreed to bring the stand and set it up, so all will be in readiness for the signatures of any and all who attend the Elk Point Canada Day celebrations. Signers will notice a change in the map this year, as the designers have decided to give Alberta its 'rightful' importance in the Canada scene.

Theme chosen for the map this year is 'The Year of the Mural,' a most fitting theme, especially to Historical Society members—and to many others—as it has indeed been very much in the forefront of their minds. The Society has made its usual donation to the Canada Day program, of $250, but probably will not show a float in the Parade, as members are too few and not physically up to the task. Their banner will, however, be carried in the Color Party, as usual.

Some thoughts were given to the format to be adopted by the Society, after the Mural project is finished, and it was agreed a 'skeleton' group should continue to function, with at least bi-annual meetings, as they will still be involved and active in promoting the explorations, reconstructions or whatever will occur in regards to the Fort George and Buckingham House fur trading sites.

Frank Mayner was appointed to represent the group on the newly formed Elk Point Tourism Action Committee.

Grace Barwick has asked the Elementary School to accept the future construction of the Canada Day maps, and they have agreed to do this.

Sid Holthe has made some 'reprint's of the tapes made years ago of the Ah-Ti-Yek Celebrations in Elk Point, and these will be added to the Society's historical archives collection.

A copy of 'Reflections, a History of Elk Point and District' has been sent in exchange for a copy of the Flatbush, Alberta history book, which will be placed in the Elk Point Library, with many other histories of Alberta locations.

Future meetings will be called, as required.

Canada Day 1988

THE LONG, LONG TRAIL--comes near to an end for the Elk Point Light Horse Club Wagon Train, which ended their week long trek at the end of the Canada Day Parade.

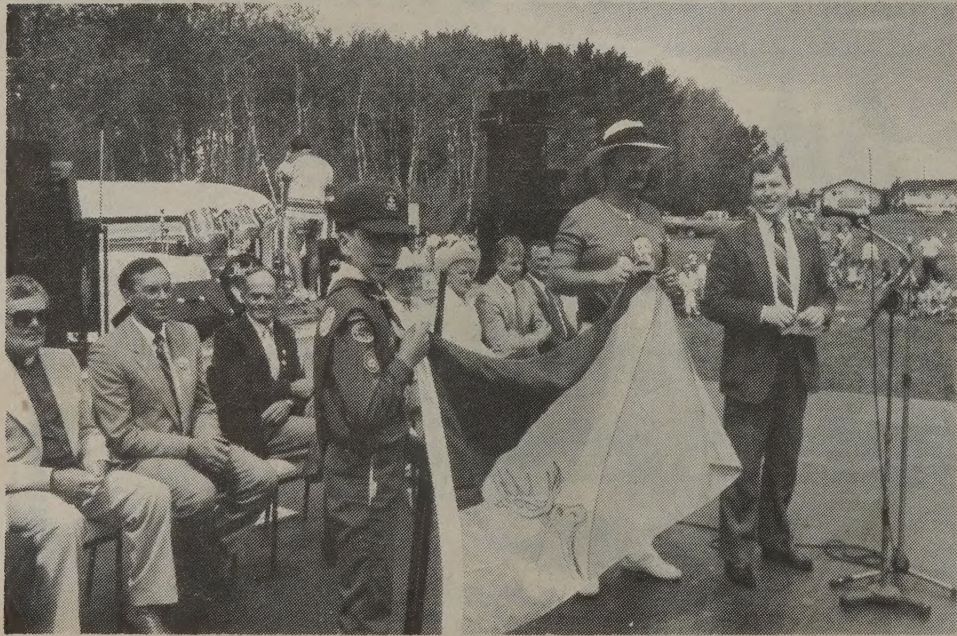

FIRST PRIZE FLOAT--in the Adult Clubs and Organizations category was this flower-covered oil rig, entered by the Elk Point Oilmen's Association.

OUR FLAG--Elk Point's new Town Flag, with its elk headed down a golden highway between forest and lake, was dedicated at Friday's Canada Day celebrations. Mayor Mann addresses the audience while Town Administrator Pat Vincent and Boy Scout Darren Pilisko proudly display the handsome flag.

Canada Day 1988

OILPATCH ON PARADE--Pan Canadian Petroleum's parade float resembled a corner of the oilpatch, with storage tanks, operating pump jack, hard-hatted leasehold, and flame-topped flare stack.

PRETTY IN PINK--Elk Point Oilettes decorated their world's only pink oil derrick. Third Prize float with flamingoes and possibly the.

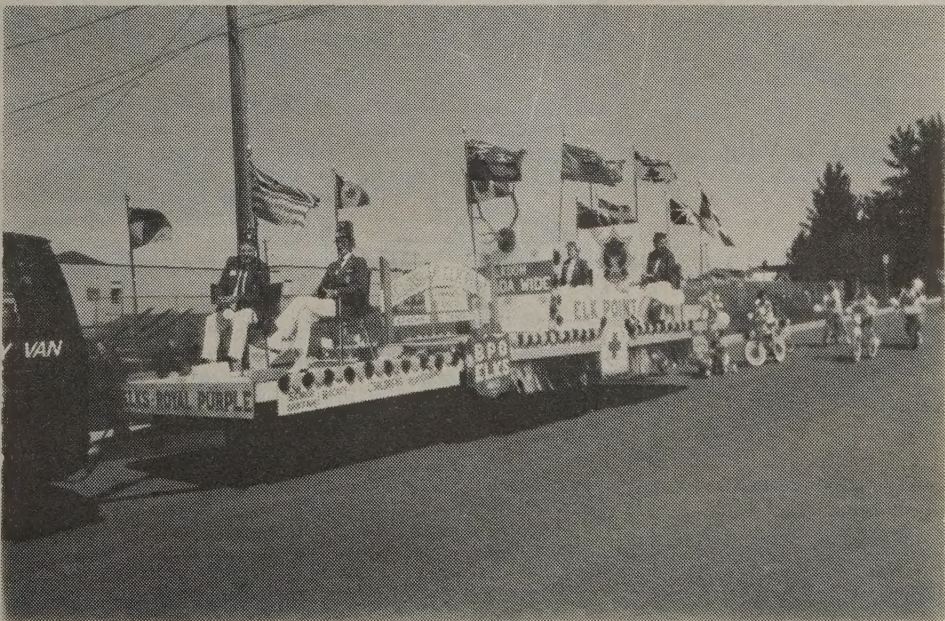

OLD FASHIONED GIRL--Marilyn Cochrane and her daughter Diane Proski (not in camera range) placed second in the Horse and Rider category of the Lioness Parade.

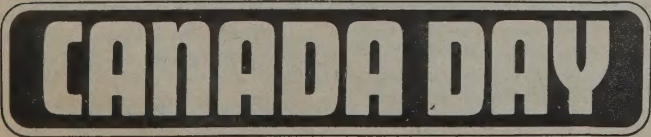

BAGS OF FUN--were to be found in the children's games and contests, such as this Sack Race

LOVELY COUPLE--this hilarious pair paraded in their Sunday best finery on Canada Day, winning first prize in the Individual category. Rumor is that they really are Tommy Rae and Travis Pankiw, but we're...not...sure!

ELK POINT BPO ELKS AND OORP--were a striking addition to the Canada Day Parade, winning second place with this handsome float.

B & R Eckels t-ball wins 'B' Division

By Donna Bassett

This young group of players went to Bonnyville on Saturday, June 25, to compete in a T-Ball tournament against teams from Pierceland, Grand Centre, Cold Lake and Bonnyville. For many on the team, this was their first year playing ball and they really held up well throughout the day. After 3 games, and often despite high winds, these kids won the 'B' Division. The last game was really close with Julie Whiffen-Peters crossing home plate just ahead of the ball to give us the winning point.

Some really big plays were made by Tim Hudy, Travis Hymanyk, Jordan Bassett, Brett Holthe, Tracy Kubista, Graham Grabowski and Kyle Aubin, all of whom are moving up to the Mites division next year. Get ready for some exciting times next season, Mites!

We really hope that the rest of the team: Ryan Hahn, Marc Aasen, Jamie and Curtis Croteau, Douglas Erickson, Jame Schnurer, Julie Whiffen-Peters, Dustin Yaremkevich and Kristen Aubin come out next year for T-Ball again. What a great team we'll have! All of these novice players played with a lot of heart and skill, and were a very important part in our success at the tournament.

See you all next year, guys!

CLEANING UP THE ACT--Retiring Town Office cleaning lady, Annie, gathers up a few final shovelfuls, as her partner Harry tells the crowd all the wonderful memories Annie has of her sixty years of dust under the rug.

HERE COMES HEINSBURG--where it's REALLY 4-H Country. The Heinsburg MultiClub entry placed second in the Youth Clubs and Organizations.

Library volunteer honored

Mrs. Lena Stepa, past Elk Point Public Library Board member, was presented with an Elk Point Mural pin by Adele Mandryk, Chairwoman, as a token of appreciation for her dedication and many hours of service on the Board.

Although no longer a Board member, Mrs. Stepa will continue to volunteer her expertise in the day-to-day operation of the Library.

Mrs. Laura Mackay has also stepped down from the Board, and we would like to express our sincere gratitude for her many hours of devoted service. Without her year's work, many projects would not have been started.

The Library Board is now looking for persons to fill these two positions. Should anyone be interested in becoming a Board member, please make application to the Town of Elk Point.

LONGTIME VOLUNTEER HONORED--Lena Stepa, left, was honored recently for many hours of volunteer work she has donated to the Elk Point Public Library, when Library Board Chairwoman Adele Mandryk presented her with an Elk Point Mural pin in recognition of her efforts.

Minimum dugout specs 'not too big'

The minimum specs on the size of dugouts covered by the Alberta Water Supplies Assistance Program have been set to maximize both the quantity and quality of stored water, says a program official.

While some farmers are concerned the minimum size is bigger than they need, Bruce Olson, Program coordinator in Edmonton, says many producers who have constructed dugouts to the minimum specification or larger in the past have said they are glad they did.

The Alberta Water Supplies Assistance Program, which helps farmers with the cost of constructing or upgrading dugouts, is using the same minimum size requirement that the federal Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration (PFRA) has used for many years, says Olson. PFRA and Alberta Agriculture are working closely to provide services to farmers during the 1988 drought crisis.

Under either Alberta Agriculture or PFRA guidelines a dugout must be at least 2,616 cubic yards, (as an example about 140 feet long by 80 feet wide and about 14 feet deep), before a farmer is eligible to receive government assistance.

"The minimum standards were established by PFRA several years ago after they conducted a survey of the three prairie provinces," says Olson. "The survey helped them determine a minimum size which they felt would provide a two year water supply even if precipitation is low."

"Since one main objective of the Alberta Water Supplies Assistance Program is to create drought resistant water supplies the PFRA standard was appropriate."

Olson says farmers planning a dugout are required to meet or exceed minimum size requirement.

Minimum requirements under the water supplies assistance program says a dugout must have a volume of at least 2,616 cubic yards (2,000 cubic metres) which creates a capacity for about 440,000 gallons. For pasture use it must be at least 13.15 feet (four metres) deep and for year-round use at least 14.75 feet (4.5 metres) deep. The dugout must have a slide slope of 4:1 and an end slope of 1½:1.

"Depth is a key point in maintaining water quality," says Olson. "Shallower water will heat up rapidly resulting in increased algae growth which can be harmful to cattle. As well a dugout with low sloping sides is more conducive to weed growth and may encourage cattle to wade into the water."

"The deeper the dugout the better. If you can create the volume of water required in depth rather than in surface area it also reduces the amount of evaporation losses."

Under the dugout construction and rehabilitation program, which is one component of the overall water supplies assistance program, a farmer receives up to $1,650 in assistance per project to construct new dugouts or upgrade existing ones.

For more information on Alberta Agriculture's Dugout and Stockwatering Facility Construction and Rehabilitation Program contact any Alberta Agriculture district or regional office or Bruce Olson in Edmonton at 427-2181.

WHAT'S NEWS at the Library

By Michelle Whitlock

It's finally here! The Summer Reading Program has started! If you have not yet come down to the library to join in the fun, now is your chance. There are two programs, one for pre-school aged children and one for elementary aged children. The pre-school program is every Friday at 10:00 a.m. while the elementary program is every Tuesday at 10:00 a.m. Both programs last for one to one and one half hours and are absolutely FREE!

This week's activities include story-time, action songs, making and flying kites for the pre-school program and a BOOK HUNT with prizes and fun for the elementary program.

Each week has different fun activities planned, so come and check it out!

Last week we had a good turnout for our first Thursday Matinee, called 'Frog'. This Thursday, July 7, our second matinee movie will be shown. The show starts at 2:00 p.m. and is also FREE! This week's movie is called 'The Last Starfighter' and is bound to be a success. Make a point of being at the library for this week's spectacular show!

The Elk Point Library Board and staff would like to thank the Elks Lodge #460 for their generous donation to purchase the current World Book Encyclopedia. The Elk Point Library endeavours to provide current up-to-date material and the Elks' assistance to accomplish this goal is very much appreciated.

In Memoriam

BARTLING, Bill

In loving memory of Bill Bartling who passed away July 8, 1987. Fond are the ties that are broken, Dear is the one that is gone, In memory we shall keep him As long as the years roll on. As we loved him, so we miss him, In our memory he is dear Loved, remembered, longed for always, Bringing many a silent tear. "In silence we remember." Sadly missed and dearly remembered by his loving wife Marie J Bartling and Rick and family.
